COMMUNITY INVESTMENT FRAMEWORK

In keeping with our defined charitable purpose, the REACH Healthcare Foundation strives to protect and continuously improve health insurance coverage rates in our 6-county service area. We also aim to increase access to quality, culturally appropriate health and human services and whole person care for society’s most vulnerable.

No single or set of community investments can resolve longstanding inequities created by decades of institutionalized racism and policies that marginalize people. With our limited resources, the REACH Foundation seeks to produce sustainable improvements by honoring the voices within impacted communities, collaborating to address their needs, and advocating for policy change.

REACH uses a community investment framework centered on three outcome areas that support the foundation’s aim of achieving equitable health outcomes. Each outcome area is further defined through strategies that drive our work, partnerships and where we invest.

BRIDGE THE COVERAGE DIVIDE
CLOSE THE HEALTH EQUITY GAP
STRENGTHEN THE SAFETY NET

The Foundation places a particular emphasis on whole person care needs of Black, Latinx, immigrant, refugee, low-income and rural populations, acknowledging that social determinants of health are key drivers of inequitable health outcomes.

REACH determines progress through identification, benchmarking and continuous monitoring of a variety of metrics, including population health and social determinants of health data.
